

GONPA GAZETTE

Can I make the Gazette on my new mobile? For once, a tech challenge that is more inviting than terrifying. I will only know if I try, so here goes...

It's definitely not the laptop experience I am used to, but very appealing to this visual/kinesthetic type, who enjoys intense focus, precise eye-hand coordination; and still had good enough fine motor skills! In many ways, I am reminded of the years I made mixed media collage as an art form...not on any device, just lots of intricate cutting and pasting.

Now laptop, mobile and camera are one, providing hours of solitary enjoyment within the confines of my room. Hugely beneficial, since this blustery monsoon has resulted in electricity and internet being down more than usual, and now I am not dependent on either!

After hours of experimenting, I think I've got it! What do ya' think? Does this 'mobile' Gazette cut it?
